

Professor M. Kawasaki was awarded "The 42nd Ichimura Prizes in Technology— Meritorious Achievement Prize".

"The Ichimura Prize" is an annual award given by The New Technology Development Foundation to recognize and encourage outstanding achievements in scientific research that has a potential to new industry.

In 2010, Professor Kawasaki from WPI-AIMR (Tohoku University) was awarded for his contribution on "Atomic regulation and emergence of novel opto-electric functionalities in ZnO-based heterostructures".

For more information: Click here. (Japanses only)