

Dr. R. Nouchi will be awarded "The 28th JSAP Incentive Award for Excellent Presentation".

"The JSAP Incentive Award for Excellent Presentation" is an award given by JSAP to young researchers to recognize and encourage significant research results presented in JSAP spring or fall meetings. "The 28th JSAP Incentive Award for Excellent Presentation" will be awarded to Dr. Nouchi, assistant professor of WPI-AIMR in Tohoku University, for his presentation entitled "Origin of Distortions in Transfer Characteristics of Graphene Field-Effect Transistors".

For more information: Click here. (Japanese only)